

American Ag Editors' Association

Join Today.

AAEA serves as a forum for an open exchange of ideas among colleagues in an environment that fosters professional excellence.

Tradition has kept the association strong since 1921 and its culture defines its niche – the editors, writers, photographers, and communication professionals serving the nation's farm media.

Today, AAEA's purpose stands as testament to the vision, courage, and determination of the small group of farm magazine editors who founded the organization – to provide a forum that allows professionals to share and exchange ideas, issues, and goals with their colleagues while offering opportunities for professional improvement.

How to Become a Member of AAEA

Join Today!

Becoming a Member of the American Agricultural Editors' Association (AAEA) has never been easier than it is today. Go to www.ageditors.com, click on Become a Member (on the left side of the home page). You can download an application blank. Then, fill it out, write a check and mail to the address on the form. Or, fill out an on-line membership form (found under pay on-line) and pay with a credit card. (The on-line membership form can only be used with credit card payments.)

In Case You Forgot Why You're Joining!

Joining AAEA gets you a multitude of benefits – all for just $175 per year.

Some of those important benefits include:

- Our 10-times a year ByLine newsletter, full of professional improvement articles and the latest news on the association.
- Opportunity to attend the Agricultural Media Summit each summer, the largest gathering (500+ people) of ag communicators in the country
- Compare your talents in writing, design and photography by entering our creative contests. Hundreds of entries are judged each year and members are recognized for their work.
- See the world by applying for one of our stipends to attend the International Federation of Agricultural Journalists annual meeting. AAEA has been a long-time member and is one of the largest member blocs in the world in this organization.
- Networking with the more than 400 members of the association.
- If you have any colleagues who want to join with you, take part in our special new member $100 offer.
